Battle Against Despotism Is Never Ending: Ike

49th Star Sets This July 4th Apart From All Others

WASHINGTON (AP)—It was another Grand and Glorious Fourth of July Saturday, all the more so because of Alaska's star in the Star Spangled Banner. Throughout the traditional ceremonies of America's Independence Day ran the theme that this was something special.

In a speech at Independence Hall in Philadelphia, where the Founding Fathers established the nation, Sen. Ernest Gruening (D-Alaska) called the 1959 celebration unprecedented, unique.

"We are celebrating the admission to the union of the largest state in history," Gruening said proudly.

And in a message sent to special ceremonies at Ft. McHenry in Baltimore, where the Star Spangled Banner got its name, President Eisenhower declared: "At this site, we are especially mindful of the brave flag which inspired the writing of our national anthem."

"Since that time, the boundaries of the United States have expanded greatly—first across the western frontier and now into the far north country of Alaska, and soon beyond the ocean shore to include the islands of Hawaii," he said. Eisenhower made the point that growth brings with it responsibility.

The first official 49-star flag was raised over Ft. McHenry where, nearly 145 years ago, Francis Scott Key wrote his enduring words:

"And the rocket's red glare, the bombs bursting in air,
"Gave proof through the night that our flag was still there."

The flag that Key so proudly hailed had 15 stars. It is preserved in the Smithsonian Institution here.

The Capitol had been the scene of an almost incredible series of flag raisings. Beginning soon after midnight, police and workmen raised and lowered new 49-star flags one after another on four temporary stands on the roof.

The reason: About 1,200 individuals or organizations had written their congressmen asking for a flag that flew over the Capitol this first day that the 49-star banner was official.

These could be had on request through a senator or representative for $3.50 or $6.50 depending on size.

The very first new flag to go up over the Capitol was kept up for 12 hours, then lowered for shipment to Alaska. There, three days of pageantry are marking the great occasion.

One of the Alaska ceremonies was set at Sitka, where, 92 years ago, the first American flag was raised to replace the banner of Czarist Russia.

The man who pushed through the purchase of Alaska in 1867, Secretary of State William Henry Seward, was honored with the issuance of a 49-star flag stamp at Auburn, N.Y., his home.

The United States paid $7,200,000 for Alaska. "Seward's folly," many people called it. He died in 1872, too soon to hear his vision universally praised.

Saarland Goes Back Under West German Control Tonight

BONN, Germany (AP)—The rich industrial Saarland will be returned to West Germany at midnight Sunday.

The final act of the reunion of the German-speaking territory with Germany will tip the scales of European economic power even more heavily in favor of the Germans.

'Slick' Soil Yields 10 Bushels Wheat In Illinois

NASHVILLE, Ill. (AP)—Soil cultivated for 25 years because it grew nothing but weeds has yielded 10 bushels of wheat an acre this year.

William Morris, Washington County soil conservationist, said the productivity can be credited to gypsum and sulphur treatments. He said the yield might be doubled by adding nitrogen.

The treated soil areas vary from 100 square feet to several acres. Called "slick soil," because of its appearance, the plots have a high alkaline content.

Conservationists are uncertain as to how the slick spots form. One theory is they develop in places where there was an unusually high moisture content.

When a slick develops, high sodium content keeps moisture from storing or circulating in the soil. Comparing normal soil to a slick spot is like comparing a sponge to a brick.

Harry Gearhart, area conservationist in Mount Vernon, estimates a million acres of southern Illinois farmland may be considered slick. He said there are 100,000 acres of slick soil in Washington County and smaller amounts in other counties.

The million Saarlanders have been citizens of West Germany since Jan. 1, 1957, when the 1,000 square miles of territory became the 10th state of Federal Germany.

But the French-German agreement provided for a transition period of a maximum of three years for the complicated switch from the French to the German economic system.

A joint announcement Saturday set the date for the turnover six months ahead of the deadline—reflecting the cordial relations of these two former enemies.

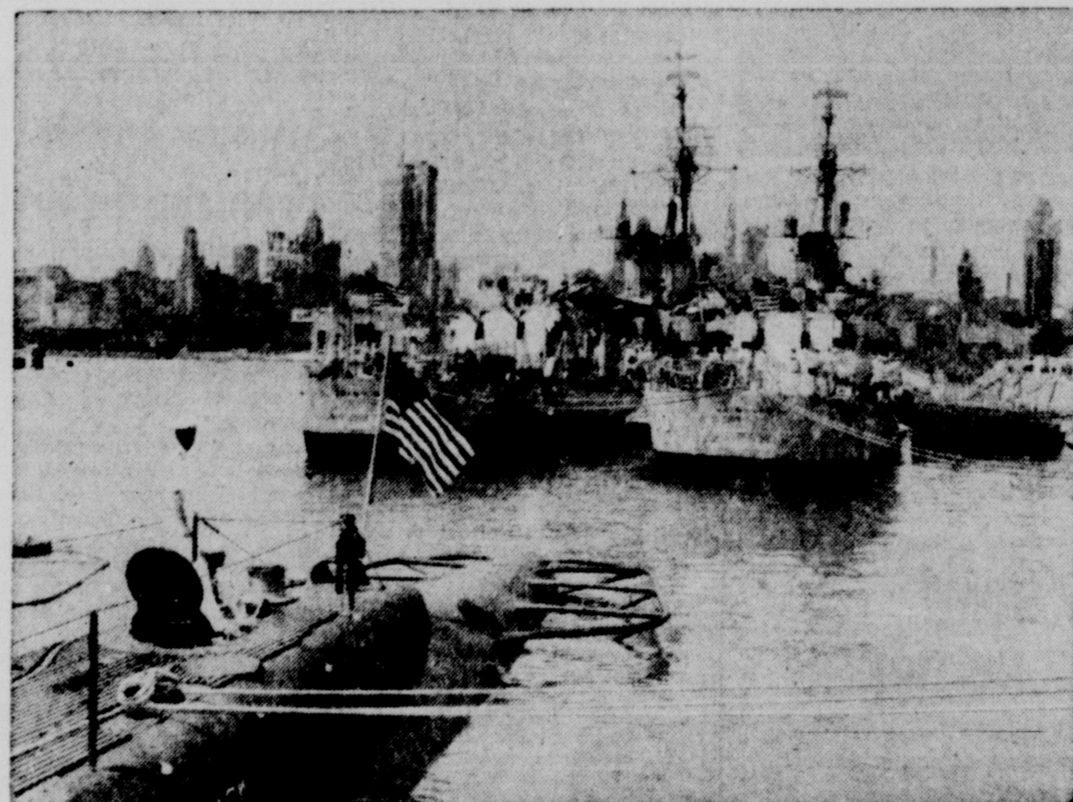

Twice the French have occupied the disputed border region after world wars and twice it has been returned to Germany.

After World War I it was placed under the League of Nations with the French in occupation, but the Saarlanders in a plebiscite voted heavily to return to Hitler's Reich in 1935.

After World War II the area became a French protectorate with its economy oriented toward France. French francs became the legal currency and a customs barrier cut off the Saar from Germany.

QUEEN'S VISIT ATTRACTS PICKPOCKETS

TORONTO (AP)—The visit of Queen Elizabeth II has attracted a gang of traveling pickpockets. Police said they took about $4,000 from spectators who turned out to see the Queen in Cornwall. Sometimes they pose as vendors of novelties and balloons, officers said.

Death Picks Up Speed On Nation's Highway

By The Associated Press
Traffic deaths increased steadily Saturday among millions of Americans pursuing pleasure on the July Fourth weekend.

The weather was dry and warm in most of the country and millions of cars were on the roads.

The National Safety Council found the trend up to early afternoon encouraging. It noted that the toll up to that point was running under the count at that juncture on Memorial Day.

The council has estimated that 350 persons may be killed in motor vehicle accidents in the period that began at 6 p.m. local time Friday and will end at midnight Sunday. Deaths numbered 310 on the recent Memorial Day weekend—a two-day observance.

A number of multiple death traffic accidents boosted the Independence Day toll.

Two automobiles collided near Petersburg, Va., killing three persons.

A head-on crash of two cars near Lumberton, Vt., cost three lives. Another collision, on a country road near Big Sandy, Mont., killed three youths.

A freight train killed three men on a railroad track near Danville, Va.

One of the worst accidents occurred on the water. A cabin cruiser collided with a car ferry and sank in Lake Michigan near Muskegon, Mich. Three persons drowned and three were missing. All had been aboard the 24-foot cruiser.

But no fireworks deaths were reported.

The Associated Press made a survey of accidental deaths on a weekend of the same span as the year's Memorial Day weekend. Independence Day weekend. The record high traffic total for test period began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight set in 1953.

June 21. Deaths numbered 240 in traffic, 70 drownings and 47 in miscellaneous class for a total of 357.

Traffic deaths numbered 310, drownings 101 and 47 died in a variety of other accidents for an overall toll of 458 during this weekend of the same span as the year's Memorial Day weekend.

The record high traffic total for test period began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight set in 1953.

Illinois Traffic Deaths Mount—Police Step Up Enforcement

By The Associated Press
Illinois traffic deaths jumped to nine Saturday night as state police moved to control weather-encouraged motorists on the Independence Day weekend.

The first drowning of the holiday period was recorded Saturday afternoon near Wilmington.

Autos poured onto the state's roads and tollways as the two-day weekend, which ends at midnight Sunday, got under way Friday at 6 p.m. Generally pleasant weather encouraged travel.

First to die was Robert Clyde Burly, 55, of Hammond, Ill., whose car crashed into a field and overturned 20 miles east of Decatur early Saturday.

State troopers, ordered not to let erring drivers off with warning tickets, were aided by 100 unmarked patrol cars and thousands of local and county enforcement agencies.

During a recent two-day non-holiday weekend, an Associated Press survey showed 10 traffic deaths in Illinois. Nine traffic deaths were recorded over this year's Memorial Day weekend, also a two-day observance.

Illinois is cooperating with Iowa, Indiana and Kentucky to fight Illinois auto deaths in a program called "Traffic Conditions Red." Under the plan, thousands of police patrol the highways with their red warning signals flashing.

The state's other holiday deaths included:

Charles Chamberlain, 62, and Anna Lee, age unknown, both of Chicago, who died when their car left the road near Lanark and plowed into a tree. Another Chicago woman, Mrs. Georgia Brady, 48, was critically injured.

Robert W. Goodman, 19, of De Kalb, thrown from his car and killed when it also hit a tree near his home.

Delbert W. Hennessy, 30, of Rockford, who was killed after his car bounced off a culvert and slammed into a tree 15 miles northeast of Belvidere. A witness told police Hennessy apparently dozed at the wheel.

George F. Leslie, 10, drowned in Lake Will at Wilmington Saturday as he and a brother were playing to see who could stay under water longer. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Leslie of 2311 Gaylord Ave., Sunningland.

CANT BE COWED
ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP)—Freshman Wayne Perkins and senior Joseph Almburg refused to be cowed in their determination to be the first students to sleep on Rockford College's new campus.

They borrowed a tent and sleeping bags to spend a night in the field where college dormitories will be erected this fall.

"It was wonderful," Almburg says. "But once during the night we had to hold off a herd of cows by flashing lights at them."

CLOSE CALL
ADA, Okla. (AP)—A hunk of iron J. T. Robinson had observed partially covered behind his service station turned out to be a fully armed 155mm shell. It was hauled off by an Army demolition team.

Lays Cornerstone For Capitol's Front Extension

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower dabbled on a bit of mortar with a silver trowel Saturday and officially laid the cornerstone for the Capitol's east front extension.

The trowel was the same one used by George Washington, the first president, in laying the cornerstone for the original building on Sept. 18, 1793.

In simple ceremonies, Eisenhower reaffirmed "our devotion to the values upon which this Republic rests."

And, referring to world problems even more acute today than in Washington's time, he added: "In the collision of ideas between freedom and despotism, freedom is neither won nor held in a climate of spiritual stalemate. Its preservation is a many-sided and never-ending task."

Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.) said "We love this ground, we love this hill."

"We trust that this whole building will stand throughout the ages," he said, "and it will, unless irresponsible and mad men determine to destroy everything."

The Independence Day ceremony officially launched a 17-million-dollar rebuilding and expansion job on the Capitol. The project has long been in controversy.

The sandstone of the old east front—the side facing away from the Washington Monument—was crumbling. A congressional commission decided to replace the sandstone with marble and at the same time push the east front 32½ feet farther out to match the west front. Some architects and traditionalists objected, but in vain.

A dispute erupted over the latest ceremonies too, because the District of Columbia Masons took part.

The Knights of Columbus, a fraternal organization of Roman Catholic men, protested. The Catholic archdiocese of Washington declined an invitation to participate.

But the Masons—dressed in morning coats and aprons—were kept in the proceedings as a part of tradition. Washington himself was a Mason. Masonic ceremonies featured both his cornerstone laying and the July 4, 1851, cornerstone laying by President Millard Fillmore to start the House and Senate wings.

Eisenhower, not a Mason, slipped away before the Masonic ritual began in the last half of the 30-minute ceremony. He flew back to Camp David, Md., where he is spending the weekend.

1,500 Men Fight Fire In Tahoe National Forest In California

SIERRAVILLE, Calif. (AP)—Subsiding winds aided an army of nearly 1,500 men Saturday in winning 85 per cent control over a costly forest fire after it burned over more than 6,000 acres.

The blaze was started in Tahoe National Forest by a carelessly abandoned campfire.

Ranger John H. Bigley said flames should be completely contained "unless strong winds take it away from us again." They did Friday.

Five tanker airplanes sprayed a chemical mixture onto the flames, which have roared over the hill country for three days. An estimated 27 million board feet of timber was destroyed or damaged.

Two lead planes directed the spraying operations. A helicopter ferried men and materials to critical areas.

On the ground, rangers, volunteers and convicts used every weapon at hand, from bulldozers to wet blankets.

"It was a pretty expensive campfire," Bigley said. "We've spent $66,213 so far just trying to control it. The timber loss alone runs to about $270,000."

The fire advanced to within three miles of Loyalton. The population of 1,000 needed no alerting, Bigley said.

"The town lies in a green valley, and there is no big timber directly around it," he explained. "Wind and flying sparks are the biggest dangers."

Generalissimo Rafael Trujillo has accused Cuba and Venezuela before the OAS of supporting and plotting attacks on his Dominican Republic, which lies off Cuba's southeast tip.

In turn, the Cuban and Venezuelan press and officials denounce Trujillo as a dictator and accuse him of suppressing human rights. Both countries say they won't permit OAS investigating teams to operate in their territory.

In his latest TV appearance, Prime Minister Fidel Castro of Cuba accused Trujillo of trying to trick Cuba into an attack so that Trujillo's bearded forces could be branded as aggressors.

Much of the tension, and many of the war-like reports stem from activities of various groups of exiles—the anti-Castro exiles in Florida and elsewhere and the anti-Trujillo refugees operating from Cuba, Venezuela and Puerto Rico.

"It is a typical campaign of the outs trying to get in," one Latin-American diplomat said. "But in this case, these outs seem to have active support of some governments."

WORKERS' AID FOR SCHOOLS
MEXICO CITY (AP)—The National Council of the Textile Workers Union has agreed to a program calling for each worker to give the equivalent of a day's pay annually for school construction.

Loop stores reported brisk business as the royal yacht Britannia moved toward the city. The Queen will enjoy her first full day of the vessel since Sunday.

Her reception was rehearsed Friday by stand-ins and was pronounced a success by city and State Department officials.

The Queen will be treated to two dinners during the day, and will visit the Trade Fair, art exhibits and Museum of Science and Industry.

Police gave Zahn, his 34-year-old wife, and three other Zahn children—all older than the missing girl—he detector tests because, "everybody is a suspect no matter who they are."

Urresti said the tests showed "the whole family is in the clear." The child disappeared Tuesday morning, in the 20-minute lapse between the time Mrs. Zahn left the house to take her husband to work and the time she returned.

The three older children said they heard Charlene walk downstairs but thought she had merely gone out to play. When she was not found police were notified.

The father, Bernard Zahn, 36, said.

Ailing Gov. Long Opens Campaign For Re-election

VILLE PLATTE, La. (AP)—Ailing Gov. Earl K. Long, dragging his faltering body through 96-degree heat, opened his campaign for re-election Saturday. He told the voters here that, "If I'm nuts, then I've been nuts all my life."

At one point Long's false teeth popped out. While a crowd of 2,000 laughed, he retrieved them, then continued his speech.

"When you're looking at me, you're looking at a friend," the 63-year-old governor assured his audience.

From Ville Platte, Long motored about 15 miles south to Eunice, another small town. There, he went to bed in a motel to conserve his strength.

Only eight days out of a mental hospital, Long launched his re-election campaign in defiance of doctors who warned him his faltering heart might not be up to it.

He invaded this southwestern Louisiana bayou country where backwoods fishermen, trappers and farmers form the hard core of his amazing political strength.

Long's opponents on the Fourth of July speaking platform contended he has wrecked his health in the service of the state and should be retired.

But Long would have none of that. He was here to show the voters of Louisiana he's very much alive and kicking.

"I'm not quite as dead as they said I was," Long also assured his listeners at Eunice.

Nevertheless, he leaned heavily on state troopers who helped him onto his speaking platforms. And he rested his elbow on the podium as he spoke. His breathing seemed heavy at times and his brow was beaded with perspiration. He sipped occasionally from a glass of ice water.

Long declared that if he had spent any more time in a mental institution "I would have gone crazy and died."

NEW LOOK IN INDIA
BOMBAY, India (AP)—The young men of the Bharwad Shepherd community in Dhrangadhra have begun a campaign to cut down their sex appeal. Reports reaching here said they decided bald heads might be an answer. About 500 were said to have immediately shaved their heads.

The reports didn't say why the young men wanted to reduce their sex appeal.

John Walker, an English drugist who died 100 years ago, made the first friction match.

Four Killed, Four Injured In Crash Near Decatur

DECATUR, Ill. (AP)—Four persons were killed and four injured, three seriously, in a collision of a truck and an auto about one mile west of Decatur late Saturday.

Killed were Willard E. Smith, 43, of Decatur, driver of the car; daughter, Judy, 12, a son, Jeff, 10, 10 months, and Janet Schroeder, 12, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Schroeder, of Springfield.

Seriously injured were Mrs. Smith, 35; her son, Ralph, 15, and Ada Schroeder, Janet's sister, 14. They were taken to Macon County Hospital in Decatur. Another Smith child, Steve, 7, was in good condition in Decatur Hospital.

Berdine Pritchard, 28, of Champaign, driver of the two-ton truck was not injured.

Authorities said the vehicles crashed head-on during a light rain on the crest of Snake Hill on State Route 36.

They said the Smith car apparently slipped onto the right shoulder of the road, then swerved into the path of the approaching truck.

The auto crashed into the left front of the truck and burrowed under the truck bed.

It was the fourth accident to take a heavy toll in the last three months in downstate Illinois.

Seven persons were killed in a head-on collision of two cars near Tuscola, Ill., June 11. Seven teenagers returning from a school graduation dance were killed May 18 in a train-auto smashup, and a two-car crash killed five and injured six others May 23.

CATCHES HIS MAN

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz. (AP)—Glenn McNeese was walking along the street when he saw his stolen pickup truck with a stranger at the wheel.

He borrowed a car from a friend and gave chase as the stranger fled. McNeese overtook the thief six miles from town, forced the pickup to the side of the road, climbed in and drove it and the occupant to jail.

UNEXPECTED DIP

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Bob Berquist couldn't understand why his wife and child, who had been watching him water ski from his auto on the beach, suddenly joined him in the water and were waving frantically. Then he noticed the car was underwater. The baby had loosened the hand brake. Both were rescued.

EXAMINES DEBRIS—Officials were investigating the cause of the $30,000,000 fire which swept a super-secret basement midway in the huge Pentagon building, Washington, D.C. The fire buckled concrete floors, burst water pipes, and destroyed tightly guarded electronic equipment, computers, and tapes in the Air Force's hush-hush statistical center. A news photographer is shown examining some of the debris. (NEA Telephoto)

Ads In 1853 Plugged Stylish Buffalo Robes

By ARTHUR THATCHER

JERSEYVILLE — There was a time when you could buy as many buffalo robes as you wanted in the City of Jerseyville, according to an advertisement that appeared in the issue of June 10th 1853, of The Prairie State which was published here at that time under the ownership and editorial management of J. C. Hinton.

The advertisement was inserted by J. H. Maupin, No. 4 Mechanics Row, Jerseyville, Ill. "Manufacturer of saddles, harness, trunks etc. also dealer in whips, lashes, buffalo robes, saddle covers, valises, saddle bags, bridles and halters, together with all articles pertaining to the trade."

The advertisement further stipulated that the said J. H. Maupin would meet Alton prices. At that time a price war existed between the Iton and Jersey county merchants, the Jersey county dealers offering to sell or buy at Alton prices.

When a local resident appeared in a Jerseyville store and sought to purchase items there, the operator of the store would price the merchandise to him at the same price as in Alton if he would produce the evidence that the item could be bought in Madison county for less than it was then being offered by the Jersey merchant.

Buffalo robes at that time were plentiful, and it was not until some twenty years later that the Federal government placed a ban on the indiscriminate slaughter of buffalo for their hides. It then became necessary for the army stationed in the still wild regions of the west and northwest to enforce the no buffalo killing edict. The late Patrick Lynch of Jerseyville who saw many years service in the early west often related how troops shot the "buffalo scalper" and turned in the scalper's rifle to collect the $50 reward for such violators. The 1853 Prairie State copy is owned by a Jerseyville man.

Brooklyn WSCS Studies Youth Problems In City

The Brooklyn Women's Society of Christian Service met Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Charles Huffman, president, presiding. Mrs. Edna Davidmeyer conducted devotions and the program using the theme "Building Christian Character."

She challenged the members to support the youth programs and youth building agencies in the city. Mrs. Davidmeyer quoted sections of the White House committee on youth report which was published in an earlier edition of this paper. In connection with the program, the members used hymns "This Is My Father's World" and "Christ For The World We Sing." The group was particularly impressed with the need for family counseling and housing.

During the business session Mrs. Bond gave a service activity card to be filled in and Mrs. Henderson distributed stewardship and fellowship cards. Mrs. Stone reported on the cards which she had sent out.

Due to the resignation of Mrs. Simmons, the group elected a new secretary, Mrs. Muntman.

A fried chicken dinner will be held July 22 with service from 5 to 7 p.m. The menu will consist of fried chicken, potato salad, hot rolls, apple sauce, cottage cheese, salad relishes and iced tea.

It was suggested that group pay the cultivation fund by soliciting a small gift from each member. A letter was then read from Mrs. William R. Dudley, district president of the Woman's Society of Christian Service, explaining the change in election procedures.

Here is the After-Dark Gardening Society

IT WAS Joe Tuttle's idea (at least he claims the credit). He was addressing a back-fence session of what used to be the Saturday Morning Gardening Society. "Men," Joe had said, "let us use our heads. Saturday mornings are good for many things besides lawn chores. Much as we all love to work in the yard, there are other times." "Such as?" asked Mort Dander. "Why, evenings, for instance." The members mulled this over for all of thirty seconds. "I so move," said Doc Semple. "Second," said Merv Culp. Within a week the members had equipped their respective yards with handy outdoor lights—mushroom lights along flower beds, overhead floods for general yard illumination, spots for special effects. Now they meet regularly in the cool of the evening to mow the lawn, spray, hoe, transplant, fertilize, water and conduct official business. Saturday mornings they devote to other worthwhile activities. Such as golf. Or fishing. And to keep peace with the Women's Auxiliary, they often assemble—with wives—on Saturday evenings for an outdoor barbecue . . . under the lights, of course. P.S. Why not start your own A.D.G.S.? Just a suggestion.

'The Horse Soldiers' Relates Famous Raid By Former Local Man

The movie now showing at the Times Theatre, "The Horse Soldiers," has taken on a local flavor for several Jacksonville area residents. The theme concerns Gen. Benjamin Grierson, a Jacksonville resident for many years.

On April 17, 1863, a Union Cavalry Brigade set out on a sixteen-day 600-mile raid through the Southern lines. It was one of the most daring and remarkable episodes of the war, and according to historians, helped shorten the conflict by as much as a full year.

The cost to the United States was $1200 (the average daily pay of an officer was 28 cents.)

"The Horse Soldiers," a new film centering around Grierson's famous raid, cost over six million dollars to produce and required sixty days to film.

Grant's Idea
The bold and almost incredible ride of Col. Grierson and his Union Cavalrymen was the brainchild of Ulysses S. Grant. For a year, Grant had tried, without success, to take the river city of Vicksburg, from which could be launched a drive to overwhelm the Confederacy. In his desperation, Grant conceived the simple, but seemingly impossible, scheme of sending a brigade of cavalry three-hundred miles through Rebel territory to attempt to destroy Newton Station, that all-important supply center for Vicksburg.

Grierson's column was to "horse ride" from LaGrange, Tennessee, on the Mississippi border, through 300 miles of hostile territory, until (or rather, if) it reached its objective. Then, if anything was left of it, it was up to Grierson to decide to attempt to horse ride another 300 miles to safety at Baton Rouge, held by Union Forces.

Sixteen days after he set out from LaGrange, with vital Newton Center destroyed, Grierson reported himself to the surprised Union general commanding at Baton Rouge, with the dirty, bloody, fight-weary remnants of his unit.

Shortened War
Grierson and most of his company were trained at Camp Butler in Springfield, The Illinois Adjutant General reports: "Probably no movement in the war so clearly and unmistakably illustrated the dash, courage and hardihood and power of endurance of Illinois soldiers in the raid. The country traversed by this little force was in many places most impassable, owing to swamps and bayous, and it swarmed with Rebel troops." The raiding party was composed of members of the sixth and seventh cavalry of Illinois, many members of which listed Jacksonville and other area cities as their place of residence.

Not a day passed that they were not in danger of being cut off and annihilated. Swing loose from all communications, destroying everything behind them so that return was impossible, they gallantly made their way beyond their battle destination to Baton Rouge.

after the Civil War. His early home is located on East State street, now owned by MacMurray College, near Spaulding Place, where a marker near the curb bears his name.

His later years were spent at a home on West State at the corner of Diamond Court. His second wife was the former Lillian King, a Jacksonville woman.

Music Teacher
He was a music teacher and grocery store owner. He reportedly "went broke" operating a grocery store in Meredosia because of loose credit operations.

Mrs. Walter Frank, Sr., of this city has a sword presented to Grierson (her great uncle) by his regiment. The sword is made of gold and silver and bears several inscriptions, one of which was by General Grant.

After his retirement in the 1890's, Grierson built a home near Ft. Davis, Texas. After the Civil War he founded Ft. Sil, Oklahoma, then in the middle of Indian territory.

The movie will be showing through Tuesday at the Times Theatre.

As I See It

by E. W. BROWN

With all the new drugs and medical information that the doctors have to work with these days it looks like people will soon be living longer than turtles. So, a midwest college is now planning a course on how to live 100 years...happily. Where the "happily" is concerned a lot of folks would settle for a fair percentage of the century mark. We presume the teachers would all be over 100...or how could they give the students the word on how to come through the rocking chair years with flying colors and a non-stop chuckle. The faculty may have the finest collection of beards since the days of the Smith Brothers. One advantage to reaching 100—it gives us just time to clear up all our monthly installment payments, if that is an advantage. Seriously, though, there is so much to learn and do that three score and ten just isn't enough time and most people will welcome those extra years.

A 72-year-old New Hampshire woman took up skiing this past winter. Apparently she is teaching her old dogs to do new tricks. They say that everyone learns something new every day...but you don't have to learn mechanics in order to make a good selection from our used car lot. Every car on the lot has been put in good, clean condition and priced under its true market value. Our salesmen will gladly provide you with the correct information on any car. Come in and test drive the one that appeals to you.

Mrs. Donald Gene Bray

Sheila Ann Snow And Donald Bray United In Marriage At Winchester

Lighted candelabra, palms and baskets of garden flowers provided the pretty background for the wedding of Donald Gene Bray of Jacksonville to Sheila Ann Snow of Merritt. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Leroy Smith in the Grace Baptist church at Winchester on June twenty-seventh at 8:30 p.m.

The groom is the son of Mrs. Grace Mattingly of Jacksonville and Timothy Bray of Louisville, Kentucky, and the bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Snow of Merritt. Mr. Snow gave his daughter in marriage.

Before the ceremony, Gale McEvers sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly," accompanied by Mrs. Carol Barnett. The "Lord's Prayer" was sung after the vows were made.

Mrs. Myra Six of Winchester was matron of honor and Miss Sheila Fletcher of Winchester was bridesmaid.

Willie Six of Winchester was best man and Delmar Hooks of Jacksonville was the groomsman.

Edward Dawdy and Elmer Witwer were ushers and Freddie Andrews of Winchester and Dickie Kitzelman of Merritt lighted the candles.

The bride wore a gown of white lace and net over taffeta. The lace bodice was finished with a stand-up collar of lace and short sleeves, with a very full skirt of taffeta, nylon net and lace over-skirt. Her fingertip veil was secured to a headdress of lace embroidered with sequins and pearls.

She carried a cascade of red carnations and a tiny white Bible, a gift from a friend. She wore elbow length gloves and white slippers. Her jewelry was a pearl necklace belonging to her Great Aunt Harvey.

The bride also carried handkerchiefs belonging to three grandmothers: a blue handkerchief belonging to her Grandmother Deeder; a gold handkerchief, given to her late Grandmother Snow on her golden wedding anniversary; and a white lace edged handkerchief belonging to her late Great Grandmother Gerard.

The matron of honor wore a street length gown of lavender chiffon. A white picture hat, elbow length gloves and white slippers completed the attire. Her bouquet was colonial of white carnations, centered with a red rose, with blue and white streamers.

The bridesmaid was dressed in a street length light blue chiffon gown styled similar to the matron of honor. Her accessories were also white and the bouquet the same as the matron of honor.

Inogene Norton of Manhattan, cousin of the bride, was flower girl. She was dressed in yellow floor length taffeta and net. Her headdress was yellow velvet leaves and she wore white gloves and carried a white basket of rose petals.

Donnie Deeder of Godfrey, cousin of the bride, was ring bearer. He wore a blue suit and carried the rings on a heart shaped white satin and lace pillow.

All the male attendants wore white jackets and dark trousers and bow ties with carnation boutonnieres.

The mother of the bride chose for her daughter's wedding a blue pastel dress with blue and white accessories. Her corsage was white carnations.

The groom's mother wore a pink lace dress with white carnations.

Reception Held

The reception was held for the bridal party and immediate families at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Leroy Smith following the wedding.

Pink and white was the color scheme. Pink roses and green ferns decorated the table where a four tiered wedding cake of pink and white and pink punch were served.

Assisting the serving were Miss Doris Wells of Abey, Miss Maxine Rowe of Merritt, Miss Donna Chrisman of Lincoln, Miss Connie Deeder, cousin of the bride, Jacksonville; Mrs. Jeanette Miller, sister of the groom, Jacksonville; and Mrs. Sandra Eddinger of Winchester.

Miss Sharon McLaughlin of Winchester registered the guests and Miss Katherine Kitzelman of Merritt had charge of the gifts.

For traveling the bride wore a light blue dress. Her accessories were blue and white and she wore the corsage from her bridal bouquet.

The bride attended schools in Winchester and Springfield, and the groom attended schools in Louisville, Kentucky. Mrs. Bray is a licensed beautician and is employed at Kayes Beauty Shoppe in Jacksonville. Mr. Bray served in the Air Force, thirty-nine months of which he was in Korea. He is now employed in farming.

Taking a Load Off the Army

COMBAT-READY TROOPS sprint from "mouth" of a Sikorsky H-37 helicopter during maneuvers. The "enemy" objective is only minutes away by helicopter. A long road march would mean hiking over grueling terrain and often a battle en route.

Crewmen in doorway of a Sikorsky H-34 helicopter relay information to pilot as members of the engineers corps attach cargo container during tests at Belvoir, Va.

MAJOR WILLARD E. CHAMBERS uses a bull-horn to direct tests of helicopter's role in an Army operation as fellow officers look on.

Helicopters Play Big Role In Battlefield Strategy

ONE OF THE MOST spectacular pieces of U. S. Army equipment is the helicopter, a flying machine also referred to as a whirlybird, eggbeater, chopper or flying windmill.

Using helicopters, battle objectives are reached in minutes instead of hours—and without a fight en route. Flying low and fast, today's troop-carrying helicopters can move large numbers of men up and over barriers that once halted armies. With nuclear weapons—the so-called "area" weapons—changing the face of the battlefield, the concentration of any large number of troops in one place is a thing of the past. Today's answer is in small, fast-moving combat units scattered 10, 25 or even 50 miles apart.

The gaps between these units pose supply and communication problems. Ground vehicles eventually encounter obstacles most common to battlefields—rivers with no bridges, swamps with no roads, lakes with no boats, and ridges with no passes. The helicopter has the mobility to overcome all these obstacles.

To the Army engineer, the helicopter is not only a vehicle for carrying personnel, but a truck and a crane as well. Pontoon bridges, concrete mixers, air compressors, Bailey bridge piers, and other assorted bulky and heavy equipment can be carried to an objective in a fraction of the time it formerly took when wheels and tracks were used.

At present the Army has more than 5,000 fixed-wing and rotary-wing aircraft. These consist of ten different types, ranging from small reconnaissance helicopters and light planes through multi-place helicopters and airplanes. In the combat zone, Army aircraft must operate from rough terrain and be able to fly in any weather. The helicopter alone has met all these requirements on an operational basis. Whether it be for observation, airlifting of troops, rapid movement of supplies, reconnaissance, command liaison and communication or casualty evacuation, the helicopter is indeed taking a load off the Army.

IN A FOREST CLEARING somewhere in Germany, U. S. troops, isolated by "enemy forces" during a battle exercise, are brought gasoline and medical supplies by an H-34 Choctaw. Copters dropped supplies without landing; flew back for more.

Routt Grads Of 1934 Unite In June

A gala evening was enjoyed June 20 when members of the 1934 graduating class of Routt High School held the 25th reunion at Hotel Dunlap. Above is a view of the speakers' table. Left to right, Dr. Raymond Templin, Mrs. Templin, Mrs. Frank Clancy, Frank Clancy, Father Lawler from Litchfield, Wally Baptist, Ernest Savage, Nester McCarthy and Mrs. McCarthy.

The reunion opened with a reception from four to six o'clock. During the program that immediately followed the 8 o'clock banquet Frank Clancy served as toastmaster. Dr. Raymond Templin extended a hearty welcome to the general group. Each member offered a brief summary of his or her life during the years since high school graduation. Nester McCarthy reread the 1934 class will, prophecy and class history.

Rev. Frank Lawler, assistant pastor of Our Saviour's church in 1934; athletic coach Wally Baptist and Ernest Savage, sports writer at the Journal Courier in the same year, were honored guests at the banquet. Each spoke to the group in respective fields.

Father Lawler recalled he came to this city when the members of the class of 1934 were in the seventh grade at Our Saviour's school. He served as coach at that time.

Former Coach Speaks
Mr. Baptist noted members of the class had been outstanding athletes during his 26 year record at Routt. During the four years of high school for the class of '34 Routt produced three undefeated football teams with 31 game consecutive games won. The former coach added that the competition was really "tough." The school also boasted a basketball team that went to national tournament; 3 city champion basketball teams; topnotch baseball teams and excellent golf teams. Mr. Baptist voiced credit to Ernie Savage for dubbing the Routt Rockets. The name that has carried through the years.

Awards were made for the following: Best changed, this was a 3-way tie between Frank Clancy, Daniel David and Emily Loneragan. The most changed was judged Joe Doyle; most children, Josephine Blesse Reavy (eight) and student coming the greatest distance, Daniel David from California.

Louise Lair Smith and Thelma Hagan Murray counted votes. Twenty lovely door prizes were presented during the evening through compliments of Nester McCarthy, manager of decorating at Anchor Hocking Glass Corp., Lancaster, Ohio, the largest plant in the world making glass dinnerware.

Another pleasant surprise were beautiful glass tumblers at each place with names of each grad engraved, as well as the 1934 teachers, priests, principal and coach. A telegram was received from Elizabeth Pieper Bajarek from Texas, who had arrived in the city for the reunion but was called unexpectedly back to Texas. A letter from Mrs. Coonan, wife of the late principal was also read. Irene Shanahan Hoffman and her husband, Robert Hoffman, provided the printed program from Branstetter Printing firm.

The group voted to hold another reunion in five years.

Jewish Population Rising But Not At Rate Of Other Groups
by TOM HENSHAW
AP Religion Writer
The Jewish population of the United States has risen to an estimated 5,260,000 yet there is evidence that it "is not keeping pace with the general population."

The figures are from the 1959 edition of the American Jewish Year Book, published last week by the American Jewish Committee and the Jewish Publication Society of America.

Some anxiety is expressed over the facts that (1) the average Jew is older than his Gentile fellow-citizen and (2) the average Jewish wife is bearing less children than her Gentile counterpart.

The year book's figures are adapted from the U.S. Bureau of Census report on population characteristics, released in 1958, which included a religious question for the first time.

They show that: More than half (52.5 per cent) of the Jewish population is 35 years or older while considerably less than half (42.8 per cent) of the total population is in that age bracket.

The average Jewish woman in the 15 to 44 age grouping has 1.74 children while Roman Catholic women in the same age bracket have 2.28 and Protestants 2.22.

A year ago April, Arthur Jacobs of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations estimated that at the current rate only 2.2 out of every 100 American would be Jewish in 1975. The current ratio is 3.4.

The year book also comes up with these statistics on Judaism: The United States, with 5,260,000, is home for nearly half the world's estimated 12 million Jews. The Soviet Union has some two million and Israel is third with 1,780,000.

Jews are much less likely to contract an interfaith marriage than are Roman Catholics and Protestants. Nearly 93 per cent of Jews marry within their faith. For Protestants the figure is 91 per cent and for Catholics 79 per cent.

- A Backward Glance - Farrell And The ISA Meet

by Tom Skiles

"I saw it hit the green, roll backward about 10 feet, then disappear."

Tommy Farrell of Jacksonville wasn't talking about flying saucers as he described his 240-yard drive from a Champaign, Ill., fairway that dropped in the hole for what should have been a double eagle in the Illinois State Amateur Golf Tournament last week.

But the 19-year-old youth, who will be a Junior at MacMurray College in September, had sliced his tee shot out of bounds on the 490-yard, par five 11th hole. It was the only out of bounds shot that he was guilty of during the entire tournament, in which he tied for ninth from a field of 200 amateurs in qualifications for match play.

He was therefore lying three when he pulled his No. 4 wood from the bag for the shot towards the green. The white pellet rose from its spot on the fairway, landed squarely on the green, and bounced backward into the hole for a birdie four and victory on the hole when Farrell's opponent - One Lumini of Pekin - took a par five.

"Almost all the shots to the green, even at high speed, either stopped or bounced backward," Farrell said, "because they were soft and spongy."

Although the Jacksonville golfer won the first day of match play - which included 63 of the original field of 200 - he lost the next day to a Barrington youth, 3 and 2, as the field narrowed down to 32.

Starred For Coach Wall

Farrell tied for ninth in match play qualifications with a first round 75 and a second round 74. At the end of 81 holes, he was three under par, and was told that he could tie the low medalist's 144 if he parred the last five holes. But the wind hurt him on the back nine and he went five over for a 149.

The five foot 9 inch JHS graduate started this year for Coach Bill Wall's MacMurray Highlanders golf team, which posted a fine 12-6 record in matches with many four-year colleges. He averaged 75, which was what he shot twice in finishing 10th out of 140 golfers in the NAIA small college tournament June 15-19 in Quincy.

He had a 77 and a closing 71 in that tournament, which included golfers from throughout the U. S.

"I was playing good, and hitting a lot of greens," Tommy said in summing up the tourney. "On the last day, I hit 16 or 18 greens, but my putting isn't what I'd like it to be."

Taught By Vice

Tommy, who knowledgeably credits say has great potential, golfer the Virginia Country Club pro, Cary Vice, with teaching him the tricks of the game.

"I actually started playing at the age of nine, and I bought my first club from Don Fairfield (today one of the top pros in the game). But I was still doing a lot of things wrong when Cary started working with me. As a matter of fact, I still go to him if I think I'm doing something wrong. I did this before the last two tournaments."

"He's one of the best around here," Farrell said in commenting on Vice's teaching. He'd have to be - because he helped both Don Fairfield and Jerry Barber - and look where they are now. You just aren't lucky twice."

"If there's any one thing that I think about in making my swing," says Tommy, "it's pulling the club down from the top of the backswing with my left hand. A lot can go wrong with a swing if the right hand starts the swing downward. Usually a hook is the result, because the right hand rolls the club-head over. And, too, your power comes from your left."

Tommy had favorable comments about both the Virginia and Jacksonville Country Club courses. Although he said the greens were good on both courses, "the Chicago boys have a great advantage over me because the large, rolling city greens are the kind that are most prevalent in tournament play. That's a separate game anyway - putting."

From this corner, it looks like he's pretty good at both.

Dominate Tournament

Robertson, John Green of Michigan State and Bonzer of the Col. State Stars dominated the Louisville tournament conducted under Olympic rules of round-robin play.

Others on the 14-man United States Pan-Am squad are Jack Adams of Eastern Kentucky and Bob Jeagerd of Colorado from the Armed Forces.

From Phillips are George Bon-Salle of Illinois, William Evans of Kentucky and Burdette Halderon of Colorado.

From Vickers

From Vickers are Richard Bosushka of St. Louis and Dan Swartz of Morehead State.

In addition, six alternates will report with the team.

The U. S. Olympic committee is looking forward to seeing the U. S. squad in action because, with the exception of Robertson who may turn professional, the same team will carry the stars and stripes into the 1960 Olympics.

Round Robin

Round-robin play in the Pan-Am Games begins Aug. 28 at De Paul University's Alumni Hall.

Ray Meyer, De Paul University coach and co-chairman of the Pan-Am's basketball committee, says the U. S. team is the strongest ever assembled for any type of international competition. It consists of College All-Stars, Armed Forces personnel and

Bald Eagle Wins Handicap At Belmont Park

NEW YORK (AP)—Bald Eagle, a Kentucky-bred but British-trained colt owned by the Cain-Hoy Stable, charged out of the middle of the pack in the stretch Saturday and pulled away to win the $111,900 Suburban Handicap at Belmont Park.

Ridden by the Panamanian jockey, Manuel Ycaza, Bald Eagle drove over the finish line a length and a half ahead of Ada L. Rice's Talent Show.

Talent Show was 5½ lengths ahead of Edward Potter Jr.'s Plion.

A field of 10 started in the 73rd running of the mile and a quarter race in which the Brookmeade Stable's star filly, Big Effort, was the 7-5 favorite.

But Big Effort, carrying top weight of 123 pounds, got no closer than third after three-quarters of a mile.

The time on a fast track was 2:01 3/5.

Bald Eagle paid $9.90, $4.80 and $4.00.

This was the richest of all Suburbans. The winner netted $71,635. The previous top was $61,150 earned by Helioscope in 1955.

Bald Eagle carried 119 pounds. Talent Show 125 and Plion 116.

26th All-Star Game Set Tuesday; Musial, Williams On Reserve

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Time marches on and the 26th All-Star baseball game will be played Tuesday afternoon at Pittsburgh with Stan Musial and Ted Williams sitting on the bench, waiting for pinch hitting duty.

The two potential Hall of Fame members actually were selected by the respective managers after failing to finish 1-2 in the vote of the players who select the starters.

Musial will be playing in his 16th All-Star game and Williams in his 16th.

The American League, winner of the last two, holds a comfortable 15-10 edge over the National League in this series that dates back to 1933.

This is to be the first of two All-Star games this year with the proceeds ticketed for the player pension fund. The second will be played Aug. 3 at Los Angeles.

A sellout crowd of about 35,000 will jam picturesque Forbes Field for this annual test, scheduled for noon (EST).

As part of the regular All-Star deal, the game will be beamed across the nation on radio and television (NBC).

Casey Stengel of the New York Yankees and Fred Haney of the Milwaukee Braves, who have been making a practice of meeting in October and July, again will match master minds.

If you had to guess on a starting pitcher, it might be sound to select right-handers Early Wynn of Chicago or Hoyt Wilhelm of Baltimore for the American.

Take your choice between right-handers Lew Burdette of Milwaukee and Don Drysdale of Los Angeles for the National.

Each starting lineup is loaded with right-handed batters. That would seem to call almost automatically for a right-handed pitcher.

Although Stengel has six Yanks on his 25-man squad, only one, first baseman Bill Skowron, will start. The starting lineups, with the exception of pitchers, were set by the players' vote. They must play at least the first three innings.

Chicago's combination of second baseman Nellie Fox — the only left-handed batter — and shortstop Luis Aparicio give balance to the middle of the infield. Harmon Killebrew, Washington's home run hitter, is the third baseman. The outfielders are Cleveland's Minnie Miñoso and Rocky Colavito and Detroit's Al Kaline.

If Stengel wants to gamble with Wilhelm's darting knuckler, he has the man to catch it in Baltimore's Gus Triandos, the starter. Third baseman Eddie Mathews of Milwaukee and outfielder Wally Moon of Los Angeles are the only lefties in the Nationals' starting lineup. The right-handed batters are first baseman Orlando Cepeda of San Francisco, second baseman Johnny Temple of Cincinnati, shortstop Ernie Banks of Chicago, center fielder Willie Mays of San Francisco, right fielder Hank Aaron of Milwaukee and catcher Del Crandall of Milwaukee.

The National League is the home team in Pittsburgh.

Teenagers Prove Threat To WWA Golf Titleseekers

CHICAGO (AP) — "Watch out for the teenagers." That's the byword for the 59th annual WWA Western Amateur Golf Tournament starting Monday.

A field of 150, including an unusually fine group of title-seeking youngsters, is entered in this oldest of women's golf meets at the par 37-38-75, 6,667-yard Ekmoor Country Club course in suburban Highland Park.

An 18-hole qualifying round opening day will set up the championship bracket of 32 contestants for match play. The tourney will end Saturday with the finalists looking in a 36-hole struggle.

Such old hands as 1958 Curtis Cupper Barbara McIntire, 24, defending champion from Jupiter, Fla., and Ann Quast, 21, Everett, Wash., 1958 Western runner-up and U.S.G.A. Amateur champion, will have a fight on their hands from the younger set.

Among the teenagers are Judy Eller, 18, Old Hickory, Tenn.; Sherry Wheeler, 18, Glasgow, Ky.; Andy Cohn, 19, Waterloo, Iowa; Miss Eller, especially, is a strong favorite. She won the U.S.G.A. junior title twice, her own state crown three times, and this spring was medalist with a record 68 and winner of the Southern Amateur student championship, defeating the veteran Polly Riley. The University of Miami (Fla.) recently topped off her winning streak by taking the women's intercollegiate title.

The long-driving Miss Wheeler won the 1957 W.W.G.A. Junior Tournament, was 1958 runner-up in the U.S.G.A. Junior and a quarterfinalist in the Western.

Miss Cohn was a quarterfinalist in the 1957 Western and runner-up last year in the Trans-Miss.

According to Williams, the ideal situation is to bat naturally. That is, a natural right-hander should bat right-handed.

"That puts the stronger hand closer to the barrel. The ideal situation, therefore, is to have the strongest hand on top," says Williams.

Mantle, whose answer was correctly predicted by Williams, also says it is the strong arm. A switch hitter, Mantle says "My right hand is the power hand no matter which way I bat because I'm a right-hander and it's my strongest hand."

Most of the players interviewed said the lower hand was the power hand. This group included batters who are considered wrist hitters.

Aaron, Mays and Banks — three of the National League's most feared batters — are considered wrist hitters. All bat and throw right-handed and not one is big physically when considering the power they generate.

When Aaron was asked the question, he immediately answered "The left arm. Why? Because it's the hand which remains on the bat."

Banks thought about the question, picked up a bat and after taking a few swings, he said "It's the left arm."

So no matter what answer a fan should come up with, he has good backing from some pretty good hitters.

San Francisco Moves Into Virtual Tie With Milwaukee

ST. LOUIS (AP) — San Francisco moved into a virtual first place tie with Milwaukee Saturday by trampling the St. Louis Cardinals 10-3 with a flurry of base hits highlighted by a pair of home runs by Daryl Spencer.

The victory pushed Bill Rigney's Giants to within three percentage points of the faltering Braves, who had to win in a night game at Philadelphia to retain their lead.

Spencer, who will be 30 on July 13, celebrated early by driving in half of the Giants' runs with his 6th and 7th home runs and a single.

One of Spencer's homers was a three-run affair in the Giant's big fifth inning. The Giants batted around in the fifth, scoring five runs and routing Cardinal starter Larry Jackson.

The winning pitcher was Mike McCormick, now 8-6. He was replaced in the eighth by Stu Miller after yielding three runs on nine hits.

Cubs-Dodgers Split Holiday Double Header

CHICAGO (AP) — Don Drysdale pitched the Los Angeles Dodgers to a 5-2 victory over the Chicago Cubs Saturday after the Cubs captured the opening game 2-1.

It was Drysdale's first victory in Wrigley Field after three straight losses here in four seasons. Drysdale scattered five hits to bag his ninth win. He fanned 11 and walked only one.

In the opener Cub pitcher Bob Anderson yielded six hits in winning over rookie Larry Sherry who was making his first major league start. The 23-year-old Sherry, pitching the first seven innings, surrendered four runs. He fanned seven and walked one.

Chicago's two hits in the fourth of the first game were uncared. Dale Long singled with two out, then Lee Walls survived on Jim Gilliam's fumble. Catcher Sammy Taylor followed with a triple that fell between Wally Moon and Ron Fairly to score Long and Walls.

The Dodgers routed loser Moe Drabowsky in the second game during a four run fourth when the Chicago right hander walked the bases full with two out. Charley Neal drove them home with a triple down the right field line. Moon's single scored Neal.

Weightlifter Can't Tote Bride Over Threshold

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Weightlifter Pointedexter Galloway can't carry his bride across the threshold Saturday; it's too small. Their honeymoon cottage is 3½ feet tall and attached to a motorcycle.

"I built the trailer in my spare time," said Galloway. He drives a taxi, operates a weightlifting gym, and does salvage diving on weekends.

"We decided to camp out and save money," explained Miss Devona Hall, a slim brunette of 20. "The trailer is equipped with lights and a stove. I won't have any trouble doing housework in a room that's 38-inches wide and 10 feet long."

She's an instructor of Galloway's gym. Her measurements: 36-21-35½. "Credit it to weightlifting."

Once the Navy veteran was "tamed" to be seen in shirt sleeves. He spent a few months in a health school in Hawaii and came out with 52-inch shoulders, a 36-inch chest.

The couple will be married Saturday and honeymoon in Florida. They'll ride to the reception on a new motorcycle. The groom will be wearing a tuxedo; his bride a flowing white dress.

"You see so many people in scrunchy looking clothes. That's what gives motorcyclists a bad name."

Galloway likes to be different. That's why he picked the Fourth of July to give up his independence.

Harvard Glides To Victory In Henley Regatta

HENLEY-ON-THAMES, England (AP) — Harvard's all-conquering heavyweight and lightweight crews celebrated American Independence Day by sweeping the Grand Challenge and Thames Challenge Cups in the Henley Royal Regatta Saturday.

It was the first time in the 120-year history of this storied Thames Regatta that one American school captured the two prized trophies for eight-oared crews. The feat had been accomplished only five times before, each time by the British clubs.

Harvard shared the honors on this sunny day with Stuart MacKenzie, strapping Australian Olympian. The 6-foot-4, 200-pound Aussie won the Diamond Sculls for the third straight time by beating American Harry Parker by 6 lengths. He also teamed with Briton C. G. V. Davidge to win the Double Sculls.

Stroked by 19-year-old Perry Boyden of Beverly, Mass., the Harvard heavyweights rowed at a lower beat than the rival Thames Rowing Club and won by 2½ lengths in 6 minutes, 57 seconds for the mile and 550 yard journey against the current.

The lightweight, stroked by 144-pound Tony Goodman of Brooklyn, New York, also understroked the London University eight and won by the same 2½ lengths margin as the varsity. They were timed in 7:13.

Wheatley Stable's High Voltage won the richest Selma ever raced at Laurel in 1954 when she earned $50,810.

Ben Tench, Raleigh, N. C. pitcher, was signed off the Wake Forest College campus by Boston Red Sox scout Mike Brown in 1958.

Arcaro suffered a concussion and various sprains and bruises when his mount, Black Hills, fell during the running of the Belmont Stakes June 13. He has been resting, playing golf and fishing.

Jurges' Debut Spoiled By 11-5 Loss To Orioles

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles spoiled Billy Jurges' debut as manager of the Red Sox Saturday, closing four home runs and 13 hits for an 11-5 victory.

Jurges, replacing Mike Higgins, used four pitchers in an attempt to halt the Oriole barrage led by Walt Drope. The big first baseman hit two homers and a single driving in four runs.

The other Baltimore homers were hit by Jim Flinnigan, his first of the year, and Gus Triandos, his 19th.

Young Milt Pappas went the distance to record his eighth victory in 12 decisions. However, Pappas was in trouble frequently, yielding 9 hits, 3 walks and tossing 2 wild pitches.

The loser was Boston starter Ted Wills who gave up 9 hits and 9 runs before he was removed in the fifth. He was succeeded by Mike Fornieles, Leo Kiely and Murray Wall.

Ump Reverses Decision; Pirates Edge Cincinnati

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A disputed play in which the umpire reversed his decision gave the Pittsburgh Pirates the run they needed Saturday to edge the Cincinnati Reds 4-3.

The play came in the fifth inning when the Pirates scored two runs to break a 2-2 tie.

Joe Nuxhall, the Cincinnati starting pitcher, walked Bill Virdon to open the inning. Dick Groat blasted a ball deep to center field, scoring Virdon. Groat tried to score himself, and was called out by Umpire Vic Delmore.

Groat went wild and the Pirate bench poured out to the field, claiming catcher Ed Bailey had dropped Johnny Temple's relay throw. After a conference with his fellow umpires, Delmore reversed his decision and allowed the run to score. Groat, who got three hits in four attempts, was credited with a triple and Bailey with an error.

Nuxhall was charged with his third defeat against 8 losses. Cincinnati 002 001 000—3 10 1

Chicago Livestock Market Report

CHICAGO (AP)—A lighter shipper demand and further weakening of the wholesale pork market combined this week to extend price declines in the butcher hog market.

Despite the second smallest supply since March 12, prices of barrows and gilts slipped another 25 to 75 cents a hundredweight compared with setbacks of 50 cents to 100 for the previous week. Sows were down 20 to 50 cents this week and 50 to 75 cents last week. They comprised 25 per cent of this week's offerings.

The wholesale market for pork loins is off as much as $8 a hundredweight for the past two weeks and some other major cuts $1 to $4 lower.

The average cost of butcher hogs for the week was down to $15.21 and buyers noted that the top price for 1959 was reached just a year ago at $25.25 with the average cost on July 1 last year up to $24.49.

More than half the week's cattle supply of 40,000 head came in Monday and demand was never very brisk thereafter although total offerings were down 4,000 head from the previous week.

The bulk of slaughter steers graded good to high choice with prime grade continuing scarce but prices steady for choice and below offerings grading choice and below were down to 50 cents higher.

Trade in the sheep market was rather slow throughout the week as offerings were up about 25 per cent and shipper demand was virtually absent.

Prices eased on all of the first three trading days and spring lambs closed the week $2.00-2.50 lower, yearlings $1-2 lower. Ewes were steady. Some of the setback was ascribed to weakness on carcass lamb prices at wholesale.

CHICAGO (U.S.D.A.)—Here is a summary for the week of the hog, cattle and sheep markets. The market will be closed Saturday.

At the close a few small lots of closely sorted No. 1 200-215 lb butchers brought 16-16.40 with mixed grade No. 1 and 2 190-220 lbs 16.00-16.25 and mixed No. 1 to 3 some weights 15.65-16.00. New York Stock Market

By ED MORSE
AP Business News Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—The first half of 1959 brought further huge gains to a stock market which ended 1958 at historically high levels.

Business boomed. The fear of inflation continued. Earnings and dividends rose and the prospects were for even better earnings and dividends.

The overall market as represented by The Associated Press average of 60 stocks ended the half year at $228.10, somewhat below the record of $230.30 set on May 29. The first two trading days of July, however, gave a thumping confirmation of the traditional summer rally brokers were talking about.

The AP 60-stock average closed this week at a new record high of $231.10. The Dow Jones industrial average stood at an all-time peak of 654.76.

An estimated $23,418,000,000 was added to the quoted value of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange during the first six months of the year plus the first two trading days of July, based on trading exchange figures for the first five months and the gain in the AP average for the balance of the time. This put the total value of stocks listed on the Big Board at roughly 300 billion dollars.

Stock trading in the first half of 1959 soared to 442,703,739 shares, the third highest in the history of the New York Stock Exchange. It compared with 297,846,276 for the first half of 1958.

Extra Values in 9x12 Axminster rugs. Over 40 to choose from, save $5 to $15 on any high grade rug. All 9x12 Rayon 3 ply rugs, $79.95 values only $49.95. $12x12 only $79.95.

HOPPER & HAMM

Record turnover for the first half was 537,846,276 in 1958. The second highest was in 1950 when volume totaled 493,257,820 shares. The virtually straight line stock market advance began in April 1958, carried through January 1959 and encountered a sharp technical shakeout in February. In March there was a slight decline. Then the advance continued vigorously. Another pause and slight loss occurred in June but the market was rallying to its new top as the month ended.

Wild moves of some space age stocks and other fast-stepping issues brought warnings from the heads of the leading exchanges. The Securities and Exchange Commission also issued a warning about manipulation in the stock market.

Meanwhile, the Federal Reserve Board ordered some tighter rules on the margins accounts of stock traders. The board also raised the discount rate on two occasions, the last time to 3½ per cent from 3 per cent as stocks were approaching their May highs.

U.S. government bonds drifted downward this week, closing the period at the lows. The corporate market was mixed, although some variables in line with the soaring stock market. Volume on the New York Stock Exchange totaled $23,499,000 par value compared with $26,432,000 in the previous week.

At the end of the week, wheat was ½-1½ cents a bushel higher than a week ago for the 1959 crop. The 1959 crop months 1½-4½ lower; corn ¼-¾ lower, July $1.24-¼; oats ¼-¾ higher to ½ lower, July new type contract 67 cents; rye ¼-½ lower to ¾ higher, July $1.22-¼; soybeans ½-2 cents lower, July $2.23-¾.

WHEAT FINISHES FOURTH WEEK WITH GAINS

By GIL MAYO
AP Business News Writer

CHICAGO (AP)—A reversal late this week of the downward trend in grain futures prices left wheat with small gains for the period but only reduced losses in most other contracts on the Board of Trade.

It was the fourth consecutive week of gains in wheat, the last two within fractional ranges, and the second successive general setback in other grains and soybeans.

The harvest-time firmness in the wheat market this year has been a big surprise to the grain trade. With harvest of the winter crop near its peak, pressure from hedge selling has been almost absent many days. Many brokers have said they cannot remember any previous year when movement of new grain into commercial positions has been so slow here.

Storage facilities in the major producing state of Kansas alone have been expanded sufficiently to put the entire crop there this year into shelter. It is the first time a large volume of the grain has not been forced onto the market because of a shortage of storage.

At the end of the week, wheat was ½-1½ cents a bushel higher than a week ago for the 1959 crop. The 1959 crop months 1½-4½ lower; corn ¼-¾ lower, July $1.24-¼; oats ¼-¾ higher to ½ lower, July new type contract 67 cents; rye ¼-½ lower to ¾ higher, July $1.22-¼; soybeans ½-2 cents lower, July $2.23-¾.

Yanks, Senators Exchange Wins In Double Header

NEW YORK (AP)—Bob Turley pitched a one-hitter, a wrong-field blooming single to left by pinch hitter Julio Becquer leading off the ninth, as the New York Yankees stopped Washington 7-0 after the doubleheader Saturday.

Becquer was batting .221 when he sliced a 1-1 pitch that dropped in front of left fielder Norm Siebern, who did not dive for the ball.

Turley, who permitted only two other base runners, quickly ended the game by getting Ken Aspromonte on a fly deep to Siebern and forcing Bob Allison to hit into a doubleplay.

It was the third one-hitter of Turley's career. He has never pitched a no-hitter.

The one-hitter was the fourth in the AL this season. Early Wynn and Billy Pierce of the Chicago White Sox and Hoyt Wilhelm of Baltimore pitched the others, the latter against the Yanks.

Washington's power bow of Bob Allison, Harmon Killebrew, Roy Sievers and Jim Lemon smashed 9 hits, drove in 7 runs and scored 8 as the Senators won the first game.

Right-hander Pete Ramos picked up his ninth victory against seven losses with help from Chuck Stobbs after the Yanks, trailing 10-1, rallied for five runs in the seventh and threatened again in the eighth.

Indians Scalp Detroit; Take Double Header

DETROIT (AP)—The Cleveland Indians swept both ends of a holiday doubleheader from the Detroit Tigers Saturday to strengthen their hold on first place in the close American League race.

Cal McLish put together a neat five hits to take the opener 6-1 and the Indians outlasted the Tigers 12-9 in an 11-inning nightcap punctuated by 33 base hits.

When Cleveland scored five runs in the top of the eighth inning of the finale, three of them coming on relief pitcher Mudcat Grant's first major league homer, they had a 9-4 lead but Detroit bounced back with five runs in their half of the inning to tie it up again.

In the 11th Tito Francona, a former Tiger, led off with his ninth home run of the season. Jim Baxes came through with his fifth homer a few minutes later.

Gary Bell made his second appearance of the season as a reliever to pick up the victory in the nightcap.

Big Crowd Visits Franklin Picnic Fourth Of July

A large crowd visited the annual Franklin Lions Club celebration yesterday and consumed a near record amount of burgoo. The all-day event, held each year in cooperation with village and area residents, recorded a sell-out of 1200 gallons of burgoo by 4:30 in the afternoon, according to C. D. "Pat" Kenny, general chairman of the celebration.

A passing thundershower during the afternoon caused a short delay of the little league ball game but otherwise did not affect the activities—the full range of events was under tent.

Cars were lined up for several blocks most of the morning and afternoon as workers filled orders for burgoo at a drive-in window. Members of the sheriff's force handled traffic flow into the village.

The giant fireworks display climaxed the day's activities at 10 p.m.

Elect 3 To Board Of Music Association

Mrs. Robert Hamm, Mrs. Frank Flynn, and Mrs. Arthur Haller were elected to the board of directors of the Jacksonville-MacMurray Music Association at a meeting held in McClelland Hall Thursday, July 2.

Mrs. F. B. Norbury, president of the association, presided at the business meeting. Hugh Beggs gave the report of the nominating committee.

Mrs. W. S. Dyingier, chairman of the constitution committee, distributed copies of the constitution under which the association now operates. Drawn up by a committee which, in addition to Mrs. Dyingier, included Mrs. F. J. Ferry and George Norris, the constitution with some revisions was adopted at a meeting at the home of Mrs. Norbury on June 11.

The board, as now constituted, consists of 24 members, 12 from MacMurray College and 12 from the community at large, elected for a term of three years.

850 Memberships
The past year was the first in which the association operated independently of the Civic Music Association, and the tremendous success of the first locally directed campaign has made it necessary to limit the number of memberships available to the public to 850. Old members will be given the first opportunity to renew their memberships by mail, and if the limit is reached in that way, there will be no campaign this year.

Joseph Cleeland, chairman of the talent committee, reported that concerts advantageously booked for the coming year indicate that the association will be able to present another top-flight series. Mme. Imburga Seefried, "one of the most beloved personalities in the musical world who has appeared in every European capital and is a member of the Metropolitan Opera Company and the Vienna State Opera," according to Mr. Cleeland, will appear on Nov. 23. "She is a charming person."

Mr. Cleeland said, "and she is acclaimed everywhere for her operatic roles, German lieder, and oratorio singing."

The Roger Wagner Chorale, a group which the association has long wanted to bring to Jacksonville, will appear on March 1, and the committee holds an option on Joerg Demus, pianist, for Feb. 11.

Two Youths Held Under $2,000 Bond
Two youths, Walfred Trumbo, 18, and Gary Warner, 19, are being held under $2,000 bond in the Morgan county jail after reportedly attacking Marvin Ford, 510 North Prairie, shortly after midnight Friday in a parking lot near the Bow-In.

Ford told police officers he left the bowling alley shortly after midnight and headed toward his home in a parking lot when the two youths jumped him, knocked him to the ground and kicked him several times. Trumbo is alleged to have threatened him with a knife during the attack.

Both defendants appeared before Justice Charles K. Warzard Saturday morning. They were taken to the county jail upon failure to supply bond.

Trumbo is charged with assault with a deadly weapon and Warner with assault and battery and disturbing the peace.

State's Attorney Charles Ryan joined the investigation early Saturday.

Soil Conservation Tour Sunday, July 12 In Calhoun County

HARDIN, Ill.—The annual soil conservation tour in Calhoun county, sponsored jointly by extension service, the soil conservation district, the Farm Bureau and the Home Bureau, is scheduled for Sunday, July 12. The primary purpose of the tour is to give the public an opportunity to view areas where various soil conservation practices have been carried out, as well as land which needs conservation.

The northern part of the county has been selected for the tour, and the southern area was toured last year. It has been announced that the tour will begin with a fish dinner at the Bellevue grade school in the northwest part of the county. The lunch will be free of charge, but each person attending is asked to bring his table service.

Trucks will be provided for touring the specified conservation areas, it was said, and a short program of each participating educational organization is planned.

Church Picnic Season
Calhoun county's annual church picnics will begin this month, and dates for the various affairs were announced this week. St. Anselm's at Kampsville has chosen Sunday, July 18, and the dinner and picnic at St. Barbara's in Batchtown is planned for Sunday, July 26.

Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 1 and 2, are the dates of the two-day picnic at St. Joseph's in Meppen, and another two-day affair is scheduled for Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 8 and 9, at St. Mary's in Brussels. The dinner and picnic at St. Michael's in Michael will be an event of Sunday, Aug. 30.

This Sunday, July 5, is the date of the annual ice cream social sponsored by St. Agnes church in Bellevue, with serving beginning at 2 p.m. and continuing until 9 p.m. Entertainment is also planned.

On Saturday, July 11, the Zion Lutheran church of Batchtown will serve a chicken supper in the church dining room, with serving beginning at 5 and continuing until 10 p.m.

Calhoun county's church dinners and picnics are well known over a wide area, and the various church groups are preparing for the usual hundreds of visitors to the affairs.

Wheat—A Story Of Men And Machines

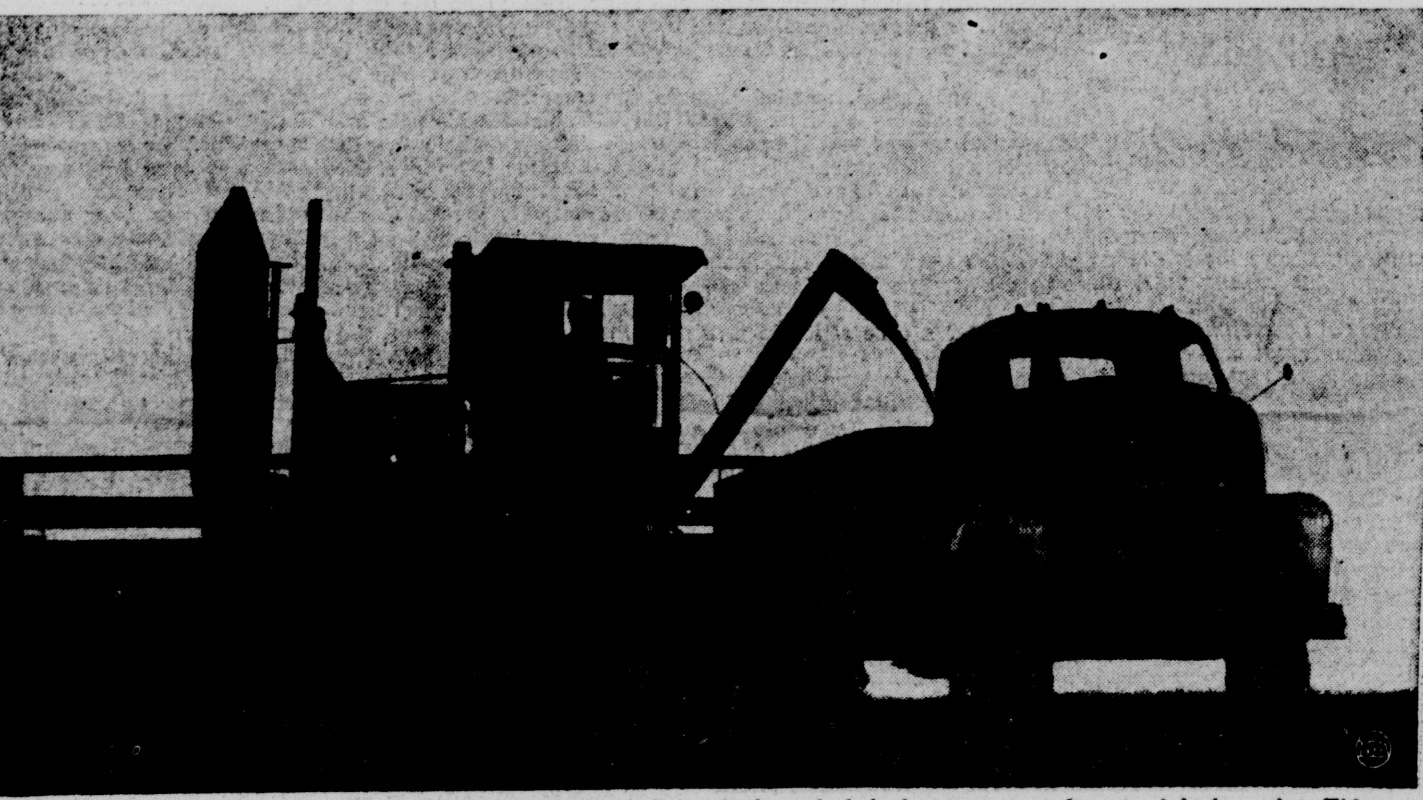

The Missouri capitol building forms the background as a farmer combines a field of wheat in the Missouri River bottom across from Jefferson City. This year's early wheat crop is reported to be down in yield but up in quality in most areas.

On the way from field to breadbasket, golden wheat spews from combine spout during full-gear harvesting in Kansas.

Time out for refreshment. Near Preston, Kans., custom cutter Bus Edwards helps Randie Gorham to a swig from vacuum jug.

With crop ready and weather ideal, wheat harvesting in the nation's grain belt does not stop after an eight-hour day. This operator near Turon, Kans., continues work long after sundown. The combine is equipped with lights for cutting at night.

Illinois Farmers Outlook Letter

FARM PRICES OF POULTRY PRODUCTS LOW

Some Price Relief Seen for Eggs And Broiler Producers

Recent farm prices of poultry products have been mighty low. Indications point to some eggs and broiler price improvement in the near future.

EGGS. The mid-May Illinois farm price of eggs was 22 cents a dozen, which was the lowest since June 1941. Larger egg supplies are at least partly responsible for recent low prices. United States production during May was about 3 percent above last May. The expansion resulted from a 2 percent increase in the number of layers and a 1 percent increase in production per bird. The 3 percent increase in production was accompanied by a 32 percent decline in the farm price of eggs.

The recent egg "surplus" can be viewed from another angle. May production was about 186 million eggs above that of last May. This increase amounted to only slightly more than one egg per person above year-ago levels. But this one extra egg per capita in May was associated with a price decline to producers of 12 cents a dozen.

Egg production is likely to continue above last year throughout most of the remainder of 1959, and prices will probably remain below 1958 levels. However, producers can expect egg prices to rise above recent low levels in a typical seasonal manner. Advances during the past week may be the beginning of the anticipated seasonal rise.

Low spring egg prices normally reduce hatchings of egg-type chicks. Hatchings from January through May were down 4 percent from this same period in 1958. Most of the reduction occurred in the May hatch, since early hatchings were above year-ago levels.

The number of eggs in incubators on June 1 was 31 percent less than on the same date last year. If large cuts in hatchings of egg-type chicks continue, egg prices during the first half of 1960 should average above those of the comparable period of 1959.

BROILERS. The mid-May Illinois farm price of broilers was 16 cents a pound, the lowest for this time of year in almost two decades and 4 cents a pound below May 1958.

Under pressure from continued low prices, placements of broiler chicks have averaged almost 6 percent below year-ago levels since early in May. This is the first extended decline in several years. The number of eggs set in recent weeks indicates that broiler placements will continue below last year, at least for a few weeks.

The farm price of broilers can be expected to rise above current prices sometime in July. The increase should result from reduced broiler marketing and the anticipated strong seasonal demand during the summer.

TURKEYS. In mid-May the farm price of turkeys was 5 cents a pound below last year. Despite continued low prices, poultry hatchings from January through May exceeded those of the same period of 1958. If larger hatchings continue, the 1959 turkey crop will exceed that of last year. And turkey prices during the heavy marketing season this fall will probably be below 1958 prices.

Lambs at the University of Illinois have gained more than a pound on less than four pounds of feed. Lambs usually require six pounds of feed for one pound of gain. So far the rations used on the test lambs have been laboratory rations only.

Wheat production in Illinois is currently estimated at 50 million bushels compared with 54 million last year. Total production for Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Michigan is currently estimated at 158 million compared with 163 million last year.

Farmers Face Discounts On Mixed Wheat

URBANA—Many Illinois farmers will again face needless price discounts on the wheat they sell this year, according to L. F. Stice, University of Illinois grain marketing economist. These discounts, ranging up to 6 cents a bushel, are often assessed against wheat that grades "mixed."

Stice points out that official grade standards classify wheat as mixed if it contains more than 10 per cent of another class of wheat. Since Illinois farmers produce both hard red winter and soft red winter wheat, these wheats often get mixed. Even though they look much alike, their flours perform different in baking.

Soft red winter wheat is ideal for cakes, cookies and doughnuts. But hard red winter wheat makes much better flour for bread. Flour millers blend hard and soft wheat, but they must start with pure classes of wheat to make the highest quality flour. For this reason prices offered for mixed wheat are usually lower than the price of either hard or soft wheat.

To avoid the mixed wheat problem, Stice suggests that farmers in a trade area produce only one class of wheat. When both types are grown in the same community, grain dealers often cannot take time at harvest to grade all lots completely, and they may not have enough space to bin each class separately. Farmers are the eventual losers, so it is to their advantage to cooperate in getting a one-class wheat community. Stice emphasizes.

Plant breeders have developed several varieties of both soft and hard wheat that do well in Illinois. Farm advisers, seedsmen and grain dealers can help select the best adapted variety for the particular area.

Recent University of Illinois fertilized studies on fruit trees show the following facts: (1) peach trees growing on sod require twice the normal nitrogen application, (2) heavy applications of nitrogen delay maturing of apples and (3) fruit trees on manganese-toxic soils accumulate 50 times the needed amount of this mineral.

Tests by University of Illinois agronomists show that the highest yields from dwarf corn came from planting 20,000 plants an acre in rows 30 inches wide.

Irrigation, Detasseling At Columbiana Farm

CARROLLTON — The Columbiana Seed Corn Company farm is the scene of much activity at present as both irrigation and detasseling have begun. The irrigation program using river water, began June 24 when the drought conditions showed signs of damaging the corn crop on the farm.

The detasseling began last week and will possibly continue about three more weeks. Approximately 200 persons are now engaged in detasseling and are using 40 machines. The total acreage to be detasseled by Columbiana Farms located both in this area in Tennessee and in southern Illinois totals approximately 14,000 acres and of that amount 10,000 acres are located in the Carrollton area and it is on this acreage that the 200 are employed with the age limit being from 16 years through middle age.

Thirty acres of corn are known as the farm nursery and here experimental corn is grown and it is also being irrigated and 35 boys are employed in the nursery alone.

Calhoun 4-H Show Set For July 29th

HARDIN, Ill.—Wednesday, July 29, has been set as the date of the Calhoun County 4-H Show, and the judges for the home economics and agriculture projects have been secured. All exhibits are expected to be in place by 9 a.m. on the show date, at the Legion grounds in Hardin.

Farm Adviser Roscoe Randall has announced that John Bicket, farm adviser of Greene county, will judge the agricultural 4-H projects, with the livestock being judged in the morning, and other projects in the afternoon. Randall also stated that a work-day is planned for Monday, July 27, to ready the grounds for the show, and he asked that 4-H leaders and all other interested persons be on hand at 9 a.m. for this detail.

Miss Shirley Palen, Jersey county home adviser and Miss Mary Lou Hulise, Greene county home adviser, will judge the clothing and food projects, respectively, according to Mrs. Peter W. Simon, Calhoun county home adviser. Clothing and other exhibits will be judged in the morning, and in the afternoon the usual dress review is planned, following which announcement will be made of the names of state fair delegates.

Saturday, July 18, has been selected as the date for county food demonstrations. Mrs. Palen will also judge this event, which is open to all 4-H members in the county enrolled in a foods project. The winner will represent the county at the state fair, and will give her demonstrations there. In addition, two foods delegates will be named from the participants, to attend classes at

The New Contract With South Jacksonville

Jacksonville residents and taxpayers should be satisfied with the contract approved this past week by the City Council and by the Village Board of South Jacksonville under which sewage treatment and water will be furnished to Village residents.

We hope also that the Village is reasonably well satisfied with the agreement, though it calls for substantial increases in rates over the old contract negotiated twenty years ago.

Under the old contract Village residents paid 10% more on their water bills but the city refunded that 10% to the Village for use in maintaining the mains. Under the new contract water will be billed to Village residents at 20% above the city rate and no part of this will be refunded.

This makes the cost of water pretty high in the Village when it is considered that Jacksonville's water rates are high to start with. It is to be hoped that the basic rates for water can be reduced as the cost of the pipeline to the Illinois river is amortized. In the meantime, however, it is not unreasonable for the people of Jacksonville to expect their neighbors to pay a premium for water. The taxpayers of the city are subject to the threat of a levy to pay off general obligation bonds issued for the water system. This levy has not so far been required, but none-the-less the residents of the Village do not have this liability.

The increase in the sewage treatment charge from $2.00 to $3.00 per capita annually apparently provoked little controversy in negotiations and seems quite reasonable in view of the inflation which has taken place over the last contract period.

Americans And Efficiency

Americans sort of like to think of efficiency as their own invention. We like to scoff at Europeans with their red tape, their delays, and their talk, talk, talk.

But we'd better watch out. In a good many lines of endeavor, delay and red tape are getting pretty common in this country.

Despite the introduction of mechanical and electronic aids, it can still be quite a production when a man gets himself entangled with transportation people. The handling of baggage, especially, continues to mystify the handlers. One could buy a piece of the airline or railroad in the time it takes to check a bag in some spots.

Put yourself in the hands of the repair boys, whatever it is you need fixed, and you may find yourself in for a long siege. There are some shining exceptions, who ought to get some kind of an Order of Mechanical Merit. But the general run is a pretty slow and rather indifferent crew.

In all too many places, long lines of waiting people tell a story of laborious filling out of paper forms, haggling over minor details, snail's pace operations.

Are we slowly becoming engulfed by the complexities of our time?

No Lane For Romance

When you say "love seat," there comes to mind one of those cozy, sawed-off sofas that fit so nicely in cramped corners of the living room.

But that's not the big thing these days. The love seat is really the front seat of the car. If you don't believe it, take a good look as you're spinning along the highway.

Coming up from behind, you're not sure from the silhouette whether you're seeing one or two people on the front seat in the car ahead. At close range you make out that it's two, but they're sitting so close you couldn't get a letter opener between them.

Romance on the road. The guy is usually driving with one hand. The less adept fellow keeps drifting over the center line. So what? No time to think of safety. He's got a heavy date.

You can multiply this little picture by the thousands every day. It even shows up on the 60- and 65-mile-an-hour turnpikes. The smoothest lovers' lanes you ever saw, that's what those superhighways are.

Of course no highway safety expert is going to propose an anti-love campaign. But he might dare to hint that there's a time and a place, and it's not in the middle of a high-speed highway.

Irresistible Force Meets a Movable Object

It's a Wiggled Season in Nation's Capital—
Attache-Author Anguishes Both Wife and Hero

BY JERRY BENNETT
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)— Party sensation of the summer is Mrs. Frank Kluckhohn, wife of a Washington public relations man. She recently got an extra-short haircut and has started wearing three different colored wigs—red, burnette and blond.

Here's how Mrs. Kluckhohn explains her decision to adopt the offbeat hair style:

"I took my 12-year-old son to the barbershop the other day, and he told the barber to give him a crew-cut. When I saw it I suddenly had the urge to get one too. So I did, right there in the barbershop. When my son saw how I looked he started crying. 'You're no longer a mother. You're a boy.' I knew then I'd have to repair the damage. So I bought the wigs."

Gen. Maxwell Taylor, retiring Army Chief of Staff, tells of seeing an officer's efficiency rating report which concluded with the assessment:

"This officer is often confused when given conflicting orders."

General Taylor wrote on the report:

"Not suited for duty in Washington."

Most Powerful drink guzzled here this year was the punch served at a recent dinner for Peter Heering, the Danish liquor manufacturer. He is best known for his sweet, red concoction called Cherry Heering.

The punch looked, smelled and tasted like Cherry Heering. What didn't add up was that it had the kick of a boiler-maker.

It wasn't until one determined guest managed to keep the bartender in focus while he refilled the punch bowl that the problem was solved. The punch was half vodka and half cherry liqueur, poured over a cake of ice to give it a chill.

Reddest Face in town belongs to an impatient Senate office building secretary who hurried into a self-service elevator recently and snapped: "Take me to the ground floor."

To her horror the man whom she thought was the operator turned out to be Sen. Ernest Gruening (D-Alaska). But she felt even worse when Gruening replied, "My dear girl, I'm doing the best that I can."

Feel Old, Young? Depends On Who Asks You When

"How old do you think you are?" asks a magazine article.

Well, Sir, if you're talking to us women the answer will vary from day to day.

We feel 10 years younger when someone we haven't seen in years says with artful flattery, "I can't get over it. You haven't changed a bit."

We feel 10 years older when we try on a dress and after one glance in the mirror feel compelled to say: "This is pretty but it's a little too girlish looking, don't you think?"

We feel 10 years younger when we've just had a new and becoming hairdo, bought a dress that "does something for us," or finally managed to shed a few excess pounds.

We feel 10 years older when a son or daughter innocently refers to someone we know is younger than we are as "pretty old."

We feel 10 years younger when we're dressed for a party and in the mood for a gay evening.

We feel older, much older, when we come across some old snapshots of ourselves and realize what changes the years have made.

We feel younger than we are when we are in a gay, happy mood no matter what has given us a lift.

We feel older than we are when we get discouraged or over-worked or weighed down by too many conflicting responsibilities.

So what does the gentleman mean, how old do we feel?

Is he talking about today, tomorrow, next week or a year from now when we might just happen to feel much younger than we do today?

WEEKLY BIBLE COMMENT

The Bible 'Up-to-Date'

BY WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.

"Forbidden to quote the Bible." How accurately the Nazi repressed "Bible Society Record," there are two items related to the Bible! The Bible is many things, very, very many, but among the many is its outstanding greatness as a book of liberty, of liberty of every kind.

It has been a symbol through the ages of many crusades and movements from bondage to freedom.

It is the story of the protection emerging Jewish nation there were social enactments for the protection of the community against the lawless, and the self-servers who disregarded the rights of others and the welfare of all.

It is the story of the protection of individuals, ages before the Common Law of England and the Bill of Rights, of measures to prevent a debtor becoming a slave, of Cities of Refuge in which even one who had done wrong could find protection. The safeguards for individual rights and liberties in that ancient Jewish society is amazing, but it is there in the Bible.

The liberty of which Saint Paul wrote was primarily the freedom of the Christian from the ritualisms and the appeasing sacrifices which even Israel's greatest prophets had questioned. "To obey is better than sacrifice."

But what Paul wrote in Galatians 6 has a larger meaning for us today. In a few words: "Bear one another's burdens," and the Bishop's wife to his office. Every man shall bear his own burden." Saint Paul set forth the essential, fundamental basis of a well-ordered and well-being society for individual responsibility hidden to quote the Bible, for it is much too up-to-date."

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)— Old TV stars never die, they simply come to play Las Vegas.

With the showtune booming bigger than ever, the demand is strong for names to draw crowds into the night clubs and hence, to the casinos.

"We're getting 10 million people here this year—700,000 more than last year," an operator told me. "We need attractions that can draw a mass audience, and that means television names. I'd much rather have stars from TV than from movies. They're better known, and they usually can put on a better show."

Thus the hot season sees these TV names in lights along the dazzling strip: Red Skelton, Ed Sullivan, George Burns, Eddie Gorme, Jack Carter, Mickey Rooney, Dennis Day, Milton Berle, Pinky Lee, Dorothy Collins.

These stars are performing the routines they made familiar on the home screens. Phil Silvers pointed out the folly of doing otherwise.

After he made his hit as Sgt. Bilko on TV, Silvers returned to Las Vegas. But he eschewed the Army-type comedy to play his nightclub routines. Audiences were disappointed and the date was a bomb. Nothing travels so

This is found mainly in the Atlantic and in smaller amounts in the Indian and Pacific Oceans. Massive limestone rocks have been formed from this mud which contains lime from the skeletons of the animals.

Ohio Apartment Plan Is Luxury Retirement

BY MARIE DAERR

If you are 65 or over, have plenty of dollars in your pocket and taste for luxury living, you will be interested in an open house tentatively scheduled for mid-July or early August.

The event is first public showing of the Crestview Club Apartments at Sylvania, Ohio, 10 miles from Toledo. This is a project whose first unit is costing $2,500,000 and which may grow into a $30,000,000 proposition.

Crestview is the realization of a dream of the trustees of Toledo's Flower Hospital. It is being financed through the hospital and local banks, with FHA help.

"Crestview is neither a hospital nor an old folks' home," said John W. Ehrle, Crestview's assistant director. "It offers independent living, freedom from responsibilities and a worry-free future with certainty of care in case of illness."

"We have 85 acres of ground and eventually we hope to accommodate 2,000 people. We expect the first unit of 171 apartments to be ready for occupancy Jan. 1."

"Within a year and a half, we hope to have ready a health center; a general hospital and other hospital facilities for the convalescent and chronically ill; a rehabilitation center and a physical therapy unit."

How much will this cost a Crestview resident?

"Lifetime leases range from $9,250 to $19,500," Ehrle said. "Six penthouses will cost $36,000 and $38,500."

"In addition, there will be a cost-of-living fee of $150 a month. This will include dining room service, utilities, weekly maid service, linens, health checks, sickness care for any extended period and round-the-clock nursing service."

For a person who occupies alone an apartment for two, this fee will be $175 a month. If a person should die before he has occupied an apartment nine years, his estate will be reimbursed.

Ehrle said he has had inquiries about Crestview from 28 states. Twenty-three inquiries came from Florida.

"Some of these people who moved from the North to the South when they retired now say they miss their relatives, old friends and the change of seasons," Ehrle reported.

You may have more information about this project by writing Ehrle at Crestview Club Apartments, 3350 Collingwood, Toledo.

Interesting People, Events Recalled From Memory By Veteran Journal Courier Writer

By Birch B. Ridgway

"Mr. Bryan will see you at 9:30 this morning."

The person who had consented to the interview was William Jennings Bryan, the Great Commoner.

The reporter who asked for a few minutes of the statesman's time was this writer. Mr. Bryan was a guest in the Dunlap home on West State street. He met the reporter on the veranda, that pleasant summer morning.

A prominent American sat easily in a wicker chair, beaming friendliness, while a strained young reporter wondered how to start the interview—how to make the most out of an opportune meeting.

Should he begin firing questions at the Great Commoner, that might sound ludicrous to this distinguished leader? Or would Mr. Bryan break the ice by leading the conversation?

Before reaching a firm decision, the inexperienced reporter found himself saying:

"Mr. Bryan, I expect you know more about what I want than I do, myself."

Mr. Bryan Understood

The great orator smiled benignly, then began to talk. The reporter started writing. It was an arrangement mutually satisfactory.

Mr. Bryan told of his joy at being back in familiar surroundings, where he attended and graduated from Illinois College. Skillfully he veered into a brief discussion of world events. He spoke slowly, distinctly, so that it was easy to record his words.

An interview of excellent form was the result. All the reporter had to do was return to the office, transcribe the word-for-word notes and write a headline. The man who three times was a candidate for President of the United States, and who served as Secretary of State in President Woodrow Wilson's cabinet, had patiently helped a grateful young newsman with his job.

In those days Mr. Bryan was a No. 1 favorite with chautauqua audiences throughout the country. His appearances were looked forward to eagerly by patrons of the Jacksonville Chautauqua at Nichols park, and Old Salem Chautauqua near Petersburg.

Audiences Waited For Him

On one occasion Mr. Bryan rode the C.B.&Q. train from Galesburg to this city, arriving at 4 p.m. instead of 2 p.m. The two hour delay may have left an empty tent for some speakers, but a capacity audience lingered to hear the man who a few years later was a central figure in the Scopes evolution trial.

Chautauqua days and nights were exciting for hundreds of citizens, when talent faced live audiences without the medium of microphones or TV cameras. Many patrons "camped" in neat rows of tents, which bore intriguing names—chautauqua was a big social affair, with many distinguished guest speakers and entertainers.

Governor Brough of Arkansas was one of the prominent men who came to Jacksonville for two chautauqua addresses. We have special reason to remember him.

The morning of his appearance, we met the governor strolling along West State street. He didn't have a manuscript of his talk, he said, but would be glad to drop in at the newspaper office and knock off a few paragraphs on the typewriter.

A Governor Is Our Guest
Governor Brough turned out to be a welcome, popular visitor. He had allowed a few extra days for his trip to Illinois. He wasn't in any hurry to get back to Little Rock. He asked if he might use a typewriter to write a few letters the day after his chautauqua lectures. The request in our office was regarded as more of an honor than a privilege.

The friendly gentleman from Arkansas made many friends during his visit in Jacksonville. He invited scores of persons to "come down and see me" at the executive mansion. Should all recipients of these informal invitations decide to pay Governor Brough a visit at the same time, it would have been Illinois Day in Little Rock.

Gov. Yates Once Reporter
Richard Yates II, a former Jacksonville man who served as governor of Illinois, possessed a natural faculty for putting young reporters at ease.

Laying a hand on their shoulder, he explained: "Yes, I was a reporter while attending college—I used to write for the Jacksonville Journal."

An immediate bond of understanding sprang up between younger men of the press and Governor Yates.

The pledge was made over a five-year period by Omega Xi Gamma Tau chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority and completed in three years.

The funds are being used to complete a modern addition to the hospital which is expected to be ready for public inspection and use within a month.

Lewis, of pink whisker fame, was the late Senator James E. MacMurray, whose benefactions to the college which bears his name totaled in excess of $4,000,000 at that time.

The philanthropist and his wife had just returned from a world tour. He chuckled with pride as he recalled a visit to the wharves at Kobe, Japan. "I saw some of our straps on cotton bales there," said the chairman of the board of Acme Steel Co.

When he got around to discussing his magnificent gifts to MacMurray College, his Scotch eyes twinkled.

"Why shouldn't I leave something to the college?" he asked.

"I don't want Franklin D. and his Distinguished personalities and nationally-known figures usually are heralded by advance announcements. Occasionally, though, men and women whose names are by-words throughout America escape from their tight schedules, deviate from their routine, to show up unexpectedly off the beaten track.

A pleasant, gray-mustached gentleman walked into the J. C. Penney store here and asked for the manager. The caller was J. C. Penney, founder of the nationwide organization of stores which bear his name. Mr. Penney had been in northern Missouri, his former home, where he has extensive farming interests.

Some years ago a heavy man of grim visage, bushy eyebrows leading the way, strolled up to the cigar counter at the Dunlap hotel. After selecting a choice Havana, he settled himself in an easy chair in the lobby.

"Looks just like John L. Lewis," a hotel guest said to the desk clerk, nodding toward the big man whose face was turned.

"It is John L. Lewis," the clerk whispered.

The labor leader paid several quiet visits to this city to visit his sister, a nurse.

Carroll Lovekamp, brother of the groom, and Lee Fox of St. Louis, brother-in-law of the groom, were groomsmen. Ross Huston of Arenzville, cousin of the groom, and Robert Aerts of Northfield, brother-in-law of the bride, ushered at the wedding.

with pink doilies around the crown. The attendants carried California daisies of deep pink and wore white dress gloves. The bride was attired in a ballerina length gown with white lace bodice and sabbina neckline. Iridescent sequins accented the lace pattern around the neck.

Sequin appliques decorated the white chiffon skirt and a crown of pearls and sequins held her white illusion fingertip-length veil. She carried a bouquet of deep pink roses.

Mrs. Phillip Allan Daykin

Miss Windmill Of Pittsfield Is Late June Bride

PITTSFIELD—Miss Mary Katherine Windmill became the bride of Phillip Allan Daykin of Springfield in a beautiful early summer wedding performed last Sunday afternoon, June twenty-eight, at First Methodist church here. The Reverend Ernest Duhling officiated for the ceremony in which the bride was given in marriage by her father.

Mary Katherine is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Windmill, 213 Memorial avenue, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Deane Daykin of Springfield.

Mrs. Byron Roodhouse presided at the organ during the prelude and accompanied Miss Karen Wilsey who sang, "Through The Years" and "The Lord's Prayer." Baskets containing white glads and blue Majestic daisies, palms and candelabra holding white tapers adorned the altar of the church. Blue satin bows marked family pews.

Wedding Party

Mrs. Howard Richards, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor, Miss Connie McGinnis and Misses Ann and Lynn Strocker, nieces of the bride, all of Pittsfield, served as bridesmaids. Frank Stern of Springfield acted as best man, Groomsman were Jerry Leonard and Jeff Potter of Springfield and Gordon Lyman of Pittsfield.

Ushers were Richard Daykin of Florissant, Mo., cousin of the bridegroom; Ray Windmill, Quincy, and Dale Windmill, Griggsville, brothers of the bride. The candlelighters were Craig Windmill and S. D. Strocker, nephews of the bride.

The bride chose a silk organza over taffeta gown which fell entrain. The bodice was styled with a low rounded neckline and short sleeves trimmed with embroidered lace applique. The bouffant skirt, worn over hoops, was also trimmed with embroidered lace. A Mary Stewart cap of lace encrusted with seed pearls and iridescent sequins held her veil of illusion. The bride carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and ivy and a lace handkerchief, a gift from her late grandmother, Mrs. Anna Windmill.

The attendants were identically styled waltz length dresses of white cotton lace, corded with blue, over matching color taffeta. The frocks featured fitted bodices with set-in waist sashes of blue satin coming to empire bows with long sashes in front. Their hats were blue bow-clips with nose veils in tulle. Blue shoes and gloves and cascade bouquets of blue carnations, tied with white satin and netting, completed their outfits.

The bride's mother wore a pink silk eyelet embroidered sheath dress with matching hat. Her corsage was pink sweetheart roses and white feathered carnations.

The bridegroom's mother wore a beige embroidered linen sheath dress with matching shoes and gloves. Her picture hat was in American Beauty rose shade. Her corsage of carnations matched her hat.

Reception

A reception was held at the Community Center immediately following the ceremony. Miss Jane Johnson and Miss Mary Frances Ducey, both of Pittsfield; Mrs. Jerry Leonard of Springfield and Mrs. Larry Welch of Lewis-town had charge of serving. Miss Peggy Aldrich of Pittsfield was in charge of the guest book. Gifts were cared for by Mrs. Ray Windmill, Mrs. Dale Windmill and Mrs. Vivian Strocker. The bride is a graduate of Pittsfield Community High school with the class of 1958. The bridegroom graduated from Springfield High school in 1954 and Illinois College in Jacksonville. Both young people work in the Secretary of the State office in Springfield.

After a wedding trip to Florida the newlyweds will be at home, after July 14, at 919 West Cook street, Springfield.

On Saturday evening a rehearsal dinner was given by the bridegroom's parents in the Oriental Room of the Rainbow Restaurant in Pittsfield.

Delegates To Convention

The Altrusa Club of Jacksonville will have as its official delegate to the biennial convention of Altrusa International in Chicago July 19-25 its president, Miss Charlotte Hull, above right. The alternate delegate is Mrs. Rex Henly, pictured conferring with Miss Hull. Other club members planning to attend the convention to be held at Edgewater Beach Hotel are Dr. Mary Louise Newman and Miss Thel-

To Draw Top Advisors

The entire convention is geared to the new role voluntary organizations, such as 42-year-old Altrusa, must take today. Mrs. John Nelson, Richmond, Va., Altrusa International president, explains: "Voluntary organizations are invited to send top leaders as advisors, consultants and participants in conferences—governmental and non-governmental, on every vital issue from foreign policy to health, welfare, aging, employment, education and traffic safety. To justify this trust we must continue to improve our own programs."

To Launch New Theme

Altrusa will endeavor to do so by launching, at convention, a new two-year program for the 1959-61 biennium under the new theme, "Make Service Your Business," and by conducting five leadership training seminars for officers and members.

The new program, which is channeled through the International Relations, Public Affairs and Vocational Information committees, especially calls for intensified traffic safety efforts, increased services to the aged, more career clinics for high schools, and more hospitality programs for foreign students and visitors.

Two Major Projects

Two major projects of Altrusa International will be evaluated and expanded: 1. Grants-in-aid, which awards $250 to $750 grants to women from Latin America and Asia for graduate study in any field. Since 1945, $141,000 has been given to 267 women.

2. Founders Fund Vocational Aid, only grant program of its kind for women of all ages, provides $50 to $250 grants for training.

ing needed to become employable or equipment needed for home business. Since 1953, $61,300 has been given to 297 women, most of them over 35.

Outstanding Speakers

Speakers for the six-day convention will be: Ivy Baker Priest, U. S. Treasurer; Miss Chloe Gifford, president, General Federation of Women's Clubs; Kenneth Wells, president, Freedoms Foundation; Blanche (Mrs. Skulig) Paulson, director, Bureau of Pupil Personnel Services, Chicago Board of Education.
